THANKSGIVING ON THE ROAD

Thanksgiving for truck drivers can be tricky – but there are places on the road where you can get a great turkey dinner. It is easier than you think to celebrate Thanksgiving as a trucker on the clock.

Specific Truck Stops for Truckers on Thanksgiving

- Johnson’s Corner – if you are heading through Colorado during the Thanksgiving weekend and are still not yet sure where you will go for Turkey Day, check out Johnson’s Corner, located just north of Denver. Johnson’s Corner is one of the United States’ best truck stops and will have a Thanksgiving special.
- South of the Border – if you’re going to be in South Carolina, check out one of the six restaurants in this massive truck/travel stop and celebrate Thanksgiving with a Latin tinge.
- Whiskey Pete’s – a massive facility at this stop on the Nevada/California border, truckers can spend Thanksgiving with a turkey dinner and the slot machines, should they desire.

Chain Restaurants for Truck Drivers on Thanksgiving

- Applebee’s – Applebee’s stays open for Thanksgiving and, in recent years, has started to incorporate it into its menu.
- Bob Evans – Bob Evans boasts a full-blown Thanksgiving feast for $14.99.
- Cracker Barrel – with a trendy annual Thanksgiving Day meal, Cracker Barrel will make truckers feel at home.
- Denny’s – they’ve also just released holiday-flavored buttermilk pancakes. How does that sound for dessert after a nice turkey dinner?
- Golden Corral – the Thanksgiving Day Buffet gives you all the classics, plus some steak and shrimp.
- Ruby Tuesday – also keep them in mind for your birthday: free birthday burgers!
- T.G.I. Friday’s – order online ahead of time to ensure your meal is ready as soon as you walk in the door.
